[Redacted] has asked me to reply to your letter of October 9, 1952, offering your services to the Psychological Strategy Board. Unfortunately at this time the staff is complete and it has been our policy to seek replacements as necessary from one of our member agencies. Under the circumstances I cannot encourage you concerning your prospects for employment on this staff.

In view of your interest in this type of work I have taken the liberty of referring your letter to our member agencies in the event they may have something of interest for you.

Sincerely yours,
